Theme

The goal of this workshop is to gather academic contributions addressing recent economic developments on China in the fields of Macroeconomics, Finance, Energy Economics and Inequality dynamics.

The scientific committee welcomes both empirical and theoretical contributions.

Papers can in particular address the following issues about economic transition in China since 2000:

- Economic and financial reforms
- Energy transition and urbanization
- Growth, inequalities and wealth distribution

The workshop is open to anybody involved in these research areas, including both young and experienced researchers, Ph.D. students, post-doctoral researchers, and professionals from business, government and non-governmental institutions.

Place of the workshop

Bordeaux City Center
FRANCE
